“[The program] is obviously very sloppy, and it’s another reason that Congress needs to revisit this promptly,” said Tim Lynch, director of the CATO Institute’s project on criminal justice. “We don’t know where these weapons are going, whether they are really lost, or whether there is corruption involved.”

Judicial Watch: Imminent Terrorist Attack Warning By Feds on US Border

Intelligence officials have picked up radio talk and chatter indicating that the terrorist groups are going to “carry out an attack on the border,” according to one JW source. “It’s coming very soon,” according to another high-level source, who clearly identified the groups planning the plots as “ISIS and Al Qaeda.” An attack is so imminent that the commanding general at Ft. Bliss, the U.S. Army post in El Paso, is being briefed, JW’s sources say. The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) did not respond to multiple inquiries from Judicial Watch, both telephonic and in writing, about this information.

Proposed Merger of JPFO with SAF Ignites Firestorm

“A big part of the problem is that the board tried to do this in secret and even lied about it, so there is no other source right now. They’re not talking about it. I have not yet gotten any response from SAF, but don’t really expect them to verify anything either. This was supposed to be a done deal before anyone knew about it, and only Claire blowing the whistle gives us any chance to stop it.” — Author unknown, quoted by Garry Reed of Libertarian News Examiner

Sheriff Says Mexican Gangs in Military Gear Are Marching Through South Texas

An often overlooked aspect of the current border crisis is the rise in illegal border crossings by cartel criminals and gang members. This goes mostly unreported because it doesn't fit the media narrative of only innocent toddlers crossing the border.

Turkey's Erdogan Comes Closer To Russia

Turkey's Prime Minister, Recep Tayyip Erdoğan, is nothing if not a political survivor. After weathering a US led year-long attempt to oust him for his failure to execute a Turkish military ground war to topple Bashar al Assad in neighboring Syria, now Erdogan, a student of Realpolitik perhaps even more than the Koran, is looking abroad for new strategic allies. At a time when NATO, the Obama Administration and others are doing everything to demonize Russia's Putin, using the pretext of Ukraine, Erdogan is moving significantly closer to—guess which world political leader. Yes, Vladimir Putin and Russia. The implications of a Turkish fundamental geopolitical realignment could have global consequences far beyond Turkey's mere size or political weight.
