Women Shooting

This article was written by Lily Dane and originally published at The Daily Sheeple

A trio of thugs had a brush with gunfire from a protective mother's rifle in Detroit on Monday night.

Surveillance cameras caught the entire ordeal.

The woman told WXYZ News that she “didn’t have time to get scared.” When she heard the door to her home being kicked in, she immediately warned the three teenage intruders and then opened fire:

“I let them know I had a gun once they were in the house. They said no you don’t so I shot off the first round. I wasn’t feeling anything at the moment, I got scared afterwards.”

EDITOR’S NOTE: If gun grabbers had their way, this mother would have been completely disarmed, and there would have been absolutely no practical deterrent for her attackers. Even if the home invaders had been equally disarmed, this woman could have easily been killed by three teenage males. Never, EVER, allow anyone, including the government, to disarm you. Either we are warriors, or we are victims. Choose wisely...
