NEW OATH KEEPERS VIDEO! And Now For Something Completely Different ...

Much of what we post here is so serious that Jim Ayala, our video wizard, decided to make a video with a bit of humor in it while also pointing out that we are non-partisan, and we will oppose all who violate their oath of office, from the left or from the right.

This is also a good one to send your liberal friends ;)

And from now on, whenever we get some wanker asking (in a whining voice) "where were you for the past eight years while Bush was violating the Constitution" we are going to point them to this video and ask them "where are you, right now, while Obama does the same and worse?"
