

Tuesday, November 28, 2006

Gingrich raises alarm at event honoring those who stand up for freedom of speech

MANCHESTER – Former Speaker of the House Newt Gingrich yesterday said the country will be forced to reexamine freedom of speech to meet the threat of terrorism. Gingrich, speaking at a Manchester awards banquet, said a "different set of rules" may be needed to reduce terrorists' ability to use the Internet and free speech to recruit and get out their message.

"We need to get ahead of the curve before we actually lose a city, which I think could happen in the next decade," said Gingrich, a Republican who helped engineer the GOP's takeover of Congress in 1994. More here

Come over to the Dark Side! Freedom is dangerous and must be reduced to reduce the danger! Freedom is slavery, slavery is freedom!

Posted by Stewart Rhodes at 11:08 PM

Labels: Police State, Terrorism

Newer Post

Home

Older Post

Subscribe to: Post Comments \(Atom\)

